

GM Interconnected: EV Conversations with Utilities – Dealer Community Charging

Please join General Motors and Kathy Knoop, Manager of GM EV Stakeholder Solutions, this summer for a series of webinars that will explore GM's EV Roadmap. Along the way, you'll learn how collaborating with Utilities across the country to support our mutual customers' decisions to drive electric.

Each live webinar will explore GM topics like the Dealer Community Charging Program, EV Live – our interactive consumer EV education tool, our DC Fast Charging partnership with EVgo and Pilot Flying J, GM Energy and Ultium Charge 360, charging at dealerships, and more.

When: May 24 at 1:00 PM EST

What: General Motors Dealer Community Charging Program

Who:

Kathy Knoop, Manager of GM EV Stakeholder Solutions

Jared Jenson, Manager of GM Dealer Community Charging Program

Louie Oleksik, Assistant Manager of GM Dealer Community Charging Program

Mary Jo Wheeler, President of Wheelers Family Auto Group

Overview: Are your customers interested in installing Level 2 Chargers around their community? Would you like to learn more about GM's plans to add 40,000 Level 2 Chargers across the U.S.?

Join General Motors and Wheeler Chevrolet to learn about GM's Dealer Community Charging Program as we help make EV chargers more accessible in our communities. During this webinar, you'll learn about:

The Dealer Community Charging Program and how it fits in with Utility EV programs

1. How this program can reduce costs in your service territory to provide EV charging stations
2. Dealership efforts to bring more charging stations to the community
3. Q&A focused on the ways Utilities and site hosts can participate in the program

Whether you're already bringing more charging locations to your service territory or you're curious about the ways this program can help your utility have a greater impact, this is one conversation you won't want to miss!
